2. Obtain and Monitor Your Credit Reports

Under federal law, you are entitled every 12 months to one free copy of your credit report from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus. To obtain a free annual credit report, go to https://annualcreditreport.com, or call 1-877-322-8228, or complete an Annual Credit Report Request Form and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348. You can access the printable request form at https://annualcreditreport.com/manualRequestForm.action. You may wish to stagger your requests so that you receive a free report by one of the three credit bureaus every four months. You may also elect to purchase a copy of your credit report by directly contacting one of the three national credit reporting agencies.

3. Consider Placing a Fraud Alert on Your Credit Report

We recommend placing a fraud alert on your credit report with each of the three credit reporting agencies. An initial fraud alert is free and will stay on your credit file for at least one year. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you, before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but may delay you when you seek to obtain credit.

To place a fraud alert on your credit report, contact any ONE of the three credit bureaus identified below; that agency will notify the other two. Contact information for all three credit reporting agencies is below.

Equifax	Experian	TransUnion
(888) 378-4329 P.O. Box 740241 Atlanta, GA 30374 www.equifax.com	(888) 397-3742 P.O. Box 2002 Allen, TX 75013 www.experian.com	(800) 888-4213 2 Baldwin Place P.O. Box 1000 Chester, PA 19016 www.transunion.com

4. Consider Placing a Security Freeze on Your Credit File

You have the right to place a security freeze on your credit file. A security freeze (also known as a credit freeze) makes it harder for someone to open a new account or borrow money in your name. It is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit report without your consent. As a result, if you place a freeze, you will not be able to borrow money, obtain instant credit, or get a new credit card until you temporarily lift or permanently remove the freeze. You will need to contact the three national credit reporting agencies listed above to place the freeze. You may be required to provide the consumer reporting agency with information that identifies you, including your full name, Social Security number, date of birth, current and previous addresses, a copy of your state-issued identification card, and a recent utility bill, bank statement, or insurance statement. There is no charge to request, lift, or remove a security freeze.

5. Review Your Account Statements and Notify Law Enforcement of Suspicious Activity

As a precautionary measure, we recommend that you remain vigilant by reviewing your account statements and monitoring your free credit reports closely. If you detect any suspicious activity on an account, you should promptly notify the financial institution or company with which the account is maintained. You should also promptly report any fraudulent activity or any suspected incidence of identity theft to your local law enforcement agency, your state attorney general and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC). You have the right to obtain any police report filed regarding this incident and, if you are a victim of identity theft, to file a police report and obtain a copy of it.

To file a complaint with the FTC, go to IdentityTheft.gov, call toll-free 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338), or write to the Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580. Complaints filed with the FTC will be added to the FTC's Identity Theft Data Clearinghouse, which is a database made available to law enforcement agencies.

6. Take Advantage of Additional Free Resources on Identity Theft

We recommend that you review the tips provided by the Federal Trade Commission's Consumer Information website, a valuable resource with some helpful tips on how to protect your information. Additional information is available at https://consumer.ftc.gov/identity-theft-and-online-security.

For more information, please visit IdentityTheft.gov or call 1-877-ID-THEFT (877-438-4338). A copy of Identity Theft – A Recovery Plan, a comprehensive guide from the FTC to help you guard against and deal with identity theft, can be found on the FTC's website at https://bulkorder.ftc.gov/system/files/publications/501a_idt_a_recovery_plan_508.pdf.

You can obtain information from the FTC, the consumer reporting agencies, and your state attorney general about fraud alerts, security freezes, and steps you can take to prevent identity theft.
