NOBLE Capital Markets, Inc.

November 11, 2026

Dear Valued Client,

We are writing to inform you of a recent cybersecurity incident involving unauthorized access to a legacy customer relationship management (CRM) system maintained by Noble Capital Markets.

We determined that your personal information was among the information accessed without authorization. The compromised information included name, phone number, government issued identification, email, and Social Security Number/Tax ID.

The incident occurred on or about October 31, 2026. Upon discovery, we initiated an investigation and took steps to contain the incident, prevent further unauthorized access, and strengthen our security measures.

Steps You Can Take to Protect Your Information

We encourage you to remain vigilant and take the following precautions:

- Monitor your accounts: Regularly review your account statements and immediately report any suspicious or unauthorized activity to our Compliance Department.
- Review your credit reports: You can obtain free credit reports from Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion at www.AnnualCreditReport.com. We recommend reviewing them periodically and disputing any fraudulent information, including requesting its removal.
- Consider a fraud alert: A fraud alert notifies creditors that you may be a victim of fraud or identity theft and encourages them to verify your identity before extending credit. You can place a free fraud alert by contacting any one of the three nationwide credit bureaus, which will notify the other two.
- Protect against identity theft: Additional guidance is available from the Federal Trade Commission at www.identitytheft.gov and the federal government at www.usa.gov/identity-theft. We encourage you to report any suspected identity theft to the FTC through www.identitytheft.gov.

We sincerely regret this incident and understand the importance of protecting your personal information.
